Peter Morville is A Woman in Second Life and Other IA Summit Secrets ...

Stacy Surtla invited me to participate remotely at the IA Summit taking place this weekend in Las Vegas on a panel about IA in Second Life and informal poster session to introduce Second Life to IA folks.

The photo above is from the poster session and shows what my screen looked like logging in remotely from in the Boston area ... I had skype with a video camera and Second Life application opened (which kept crashing my computer.) We briefly visited Boracay Island - designed by Nick Hoakes and the home of communities in practice (and the Vespa group). You can see the back of my avatar in the green skirt, the male avatar is Josh Knauer, and my colleague, Susanne Nyrop from Denmark who we bumped into while wandering around Boracay Island.

The image shows a screenshot of the change.org website with several annotations. The website header includes the logo 'change.org', a search bar, and a navigation menu with items: Home, Changes, People, Nonprofits, Giving, Actions, Videos, and Blogs. A 'Welcome sign in' link is also visible. The main content area features a search bar with the text 'What Do You Want to Change in the World?' and a search button. Below this is a section titled 'Recently Popular Changes' with various causes listed, such as 'End Sex Trafficking', 'End global poverty', 'Research Alternative Energy', 'Stop Cruelty to Animals', 'Advance Gay Rights', 'Separate Church and State', 'Universal Health Care', 'Reduce income inequality', 'Stop Hate', 'Eliminate Borders', 'allow voters to choose more than one candidate', 'Federal Funding for Stem Cell Research', 'Mental Health Awareness: Reduce Stigma', 'Preserve Biodiversity', 'go vegan!', 'Peace in the Middle East', 'Protect women's right to choose', 'Recycle', 'Food Sovereignty', 'Stop Global AIDS', 'End overfishing', 'Eliminate the Death Penalty', and 'No More Torture'. On the left side, there is a sidebar with the text 'What is Change.org?' and 'Change.org is a social network for hundreds of social causes and over 1 million nonprofit organizations.' Below this are buttons for 'TAKE A TOUR >' and 'SIGN UP >', and a link for 'Nonprofits click here!'. At the bottom of the sidebar is a 'Browse Changes' section with a list of categories: All, Animals, Arts & Culture, Education, Environment, Health, and Human Services. Annotations with arrows point from text labels to specific parts of the website: 'Connect' points to the 'change.org' logo; 'Promote' points to the 'Changes' menu item; 'Donate' points to the 'Giving' menu item; 'Act' points to the 'Actions' menu item; 'Show video' points to the 'Videos' menu item; 'Find your voice' points to the search bar; 'Join or start a change' points to the 'What Do You Want to Change in the World?' search bar.
